The District Administration Haridwar is pleased to acknowledge and appreciate the efforts of Master Moulik Jain his team of young students through their initiative "Amrit Dhara-Faith to Future."

Haridwar, being one of India's most important pilgrimage destinations, witnesses significant quantities of floral offerings and religious materials generated through religious ceremonies temple activities, and pilgrim participation. The environmentally responsible management of such material is an important aspect of maintaining cleanliness, protecting natural resources and preserving the sanctity of the region.

Amrit Dhara-Faith to Future represents a thoughtful and innovative approach toward addressing this challenge by promoting the collection, segregation and value-added utilization of sacred floral offerings. By converting floral waste into product such as incense cones and sambrani cup, the initiative demonstrates the practical application of waste-to-wealth principles and circular economy practices at the community level.

The initiative is particularly noteworthy for integrating environmental sustainability with social impact. Through the engagement of local women artisans in the production process, the project contributes toward women empowerment, skill development, livelihood generation, and community participation such efforts are aligned with the broader objectives of inclusive development and resonate with the spirit of initiatives aimed at strengthening women's economic participation, including the vision behind programs such as the Lakhpati Didi initiative.

The District Administration also appreciates that the initiative promotes environmental awareness among citizens and pilgrims while encouraging responsible management of religious offering. The project reflects the values of public participation, cleanliness, sustainability and responsible resource utilization, which are central to the objective of the Swachh Bharat Mission an various environmental conservation efforts being pursued across the country.

It is commendable that Master Moulik Jain and his team of young students have demonstrated leadership, innovation, civic responsibility, and a commitment to sustainable development at a young age. Their efforts illustrate how youth-led initiatives contribute meaningfully to addressing local environmental challenges while creating positive social impact.

The District Administration Haridwar, appreciates the efforts of Master Moulik Jain and his team and extends its best wishes for the continued growth and success of Amrit Dhara Faith to future, We believe that such initiative deserve encouragement and wider recognition as exemplary models of youth-led environmental stewardship, social innovation and community engagements.
